ACTIVITY 1:

Identify supports

INSTRUCTIONS: Use the "Supports" page in the Disability Hub MN Work toolkit to identify supports that could address the need shared in each scenario below.

SCENARIO 1

Deanna started a new job about four months ago. Her boss recently asked her if she would like to expand her job by doing the weekly inventory count. Deanna would love to take on this new task, but she tells you that she is worried she may not be able to do it because of her difficulty with reading.

What supports could you help Deanna coordinate?

SCENARIO 2

Deanna started a new job about four months ago. Her boss recently asked her if she would like to expand her job by doing the weekly inventory count. Deanna would love to take on this new task, but she tells you that she is worried an increase in hours will cause her to lose her benefits.

What supports could you help Deanna coordinate?

SCENARIO 3

Alex has been working at his current job for about a year. He recently got a new supervisor. The supervisor has been asking Alex questions about his disability. Alex feels unsure how to handle the questions.

Who could Alex talk to for ideas and to understand his rights?
